

I'm not overly familiar with coding, but the difference between GUI and Command-Line seems to be that GUI takes longer, whereas CIL is shorter, and as if representing this, GUI seems to be able to hold onto more things, being more flexible and customizable. Being able to use the icons with GUI also makes it much easier to understand, while Command-Line is simply lines of code that one needs to be familiar with.